Nashua, NH – The Nashua Athletics Hall of Fame is announcing that its 11th induction will be moved to a virtual platform to be released on Saturday, May 22, 2021. The first induction in nearly twenty years was originally scheduled for Saturday, May 9, 2020, then postponed to October 25, 2020, then postponed a second time to May 22, 2021. With the continued uncertainty of the limitations on large in-person gatherings, the Nashua Athletics Hall of Fame Committee voted this week to induct and recognize the Class of 2020 in a virtual manner.

Given the continued situation in our community, the state, and the world amidst the COVID-19 pandemic, the committee decided it was time to recognize the eleven inductees rather than postpone again to an unknown date. Funds from all sponsorships and program ads will be used toward expenses of awards and the virtual program. The remaining money will be held for the next induction in May 2023. Money from ticket purchases will be refunded within the next few weeks.

On Saturday, May 22, 2021, the Nashua Athletics Hall of Fame will honor the following eleven inductees in a virtual manner:

- Farley Gates – contributor and student-athlete
- Al Savage – contributor
- Bob DeMello (posthumously) – coach
- Mark Russell (posthumously) – student-athlete
- Kole Ayi – student-athlete
- Amy Ruston – student-athlete
- Laura Gerraughty – student-athlete
- John Schroeder – student-athlete
- Kendall Reyes – student-athlete
- Brad Zapenas – student-athlete
- Trevor Knight – student-athlete

The Hall of Fame virtual induction will be released on Saturday, May 22, 2021. More details, including the time and how the public can view the induction, will be forthcoming.
